Important information

The Government Superannuation Fund (GSF) schemes are managed and administered by the GSF Authority (the Authority) in terms of the GSF Act 1956 (the GSF Act). The Authority has appointed Datacom Connect Limited (Datacom), a subsidiary of Datacom Group Limited, as the Schemes Administrator.

The Schemes Administrator does not have the authority to interpret the GSF Act or to make any determination on questions arising under the GSF Act. All interpretative issues and determinations are referred to the Authority for a decision.

If there is any doubt about a matter, eg. how an allowance is calculated, the Schemes Administrator will approach the Authority for a determination and then advise the contributor of the Authority's decision. If the contributor disagrees with, or is dissatisfied with, the Authority's decision he/she has the right to appeal to the GSF Appeals Board (the Appeals Board) against that decision.

The GSF Act requires the Authority to exercise its discretion consistently with the published statement of policies unless it considers it inappropriate to do so in the particular circumstances. The statement of policies may be amended by the Authority from time to time, subject to compliance with the procedural requirements set out in the Act.

Appeals must be made in writing within 28 days of the Authority's decision being advised to the contributor. The appeal will then be presented to the Appeals Board at its next meeting. The Appeals Board considers all written and oral evidence submitted by the contributor or his/her representative, as well as the Authority's report, and takes into account the interests of the Crown and any other interested party before making its decision. The Appeals Board's decision is final and the contributor is advised of the outcome.

Options Available While Remaining in Government Service

1. Introduction

This booklet provides information on options available while remaining in Government service for contributors to Part 2A of Government Superannuation Fund (GSF) (the New General Scheme) under the GSF Act and the various associated policies. The position may be different under other schemes within the GSF (eg. the Armed Forces, Police or Prison Schemes).

This booklet covers:

- election to cease to be a contributor to GSF and receive a refund of contributions ('withdrawal from GSF'),
- election to temporarily cease contributions while remaining in Government service, and
- cessation of employment with one Government employer and employment with a new Government employer.

In this booklet, the term "partner" is used to refer to a civil union partner or de facto partner (as defined in the Property (Relationships) Act 1976) and includes any person whom the Authority regards as being the civil union or de facto partner of a deceased person immediately before that person's death.

The term "spouse" is used to refer to any man or woman whom the Authority regards as being the wife or husband of the person immediately before the person's death.

Note - a contributor who withdraws contributions is unable to rejoin GSF.

The Schemes Administrator will provide an estimate of future entitlements on request. Before ceasing contributions to GSF, please ensure you contact the GSF Schemes Administrator to determine whether you are required to complete Form GS19 – Change of Status at the back of this booklet.

2. Withdrawal

A contributor who is not ceasing Government service may elect to cease being a contributor to GSF and receive a refund of contributions on giving notice in writing, of their intention to do so. No interest is payable under this option. Standard (contributor) contributions only will be refunded.

Any interest paid or owed to GSF or any amount paid in excess of the standard contribution rate does not form part of the refund of contributions, and is retained by GSF.

An election to withdraw cannot be revoked once received by the Schemes Administrator.

Under current New Zealand tax law, the refund is not subject to income tax.

If a charge is registered over the contributions the chargeholder will be given the opportunity to seek payment before a refund is paid.

3. Election to temporarily cease contributions while remaining in Government service

Contributors under age 50 have the option to cease contributions while remaining in Government service, and to later resume contributions so long as contributions are resumed before reaching age 50.

If you do not resume contributions before reaching age 50, while remaining in Government service, you will then receive a refund of your standard (contributor) contributions only. No interest is payable. You may, in any event, subsequently elect to receive a refund of your standard (contributor) contributions, without interest, at any time before age 50, whilst remaining in Government service.

Contributors on leave without pay or intending to go on leave without pay may wish to consider this option. Please refer to Booklet GS7 - Information on Leave Without Pay.

Note - if you resign from Government service while contributions have been suspended, you will need to make a further election. Please contact the Schemes Administrator.

Rights while contributions are not being paid

If a contributor dies whilst his contributions are temporarily suspended and is survived by a spouse or partner, the spouse or partner has the choice of:

- (a) a refund of contributions plus interest, or
- (b) a spouse or partner's allowance of one half the retiring allowance that would have been payable to the contributor if that contributor had been entitled to an allowance at the date of death.

If a contributor dies and is not survived by a spouse or partner, a refund of contributions plus interest will be paid to the estate.

No allowance is payable to or for any child of a deceased contributor.

If the contributor becomes medically unfit for further duty a retiring allowance may be paid.

Effect on former contributory service

When a contributor resumes paying contributions the earlier period of contributory service is reactivated. This period of earlier service is first discounted, as set out below, and then treated as having taken place immediately prior to the date contributions are resumed.

The discounting is a reduction of 1.25% of each year of non-contribution for which there is a corresponding year of previous contributory service, and 2.25% for each year of absence in excess of previous contributory service.

Example

Contribution service: 28/01/1997 to 19/04/2000 (3.22 years or 1178 days)

Break in service: 20/04/2000 to 06/10/2007 (7.46 years or 2727 days)

Difference: $7.46 - 3.22 = 4.24$ years

Discounting calculated as follows:

$$\begin{aligned} ((3.22 \times 1.25) + (4.24 \times 2.25))/100 &= 0.1356 \\ &= 0.1356 \times 3.22 \\ &= 0.4366 \text{ years (160 days)} \end{aligned}$$

The discounted previous service of 1018 days (1178-160 days) is treated as immediately preceding the resumption of contributions date of 7 October 2007 to give a 'commencement date' of 24 December 2004.

The higher rate of discounting of 2.25% applies to the length of the break in service in excess of the previous period of contributory service. The longer the break, the more discounting that will be applied.

4. Cessation of employment with one Government employer and employment with a new Government employer

If you are ceasing employment with an employer you must advise the Schemes Administrator who will provide details of the options available to you. Please refer to Booklet 20 – Options Available on Cessation of Government Service.

If you are joining a new employer you must complete Form GS1 – Rejoining Form (appended to this booklet). The Schemes Administrator will confirm whether or not you can contribute to GSF with your new employer.

One of the options available on ceasing Government service is to continue to contribute to GSF for up to 3 months. This may be an option members wish to consider particularly when changing employers, where a contributor might otherwise have a short break in service. Additional contributions are required and the election to continue contributions must be made before ceasing Government service. The right to continue to contribute for more than 3 months may, in special circumstances, be approved by the Authority.

Contributors cannot be transferred to another scheme within GSF.
